

Pier Newsletter 5

Meeting Went Well

Thanks for the many messages beforehand and the attendance on the night. We had a very pleasant evening presenting the details of the new plans, including a 3D model. The main presentation was by Jill Hodgson, Designer Artist who volunteered to help us turn chat into drawings. We all enjoyed a bit of socialising with nibbles at the end. We also announced two competitions which we encourage you to enter.

Coastal Revival Fund

We have now banked £50,000 from the Coastal Revival Fund.

This is a tremendous step forward and couldn't have come at a better time. We are now starting to get quotes and meet with contractors who want to get involved.

T Shirt Photo competition

Take a photo of yourself wearing a Pier T Shirt this summer, and you could win a boat trip to the pier and beyond
Closing date is 30th September 2019

3 categories:
–Local to Suffolk
–UK
–International

News from the Pierside

Malcy, the present owner of the catering unit, has decided to retire from outdoor work, so we have agreed to buy the catering unit. This gives us a great opportunity to create an information and refreshment stand right next to the pier.

Art Exhibition: Peninsula, Land and Sea

Free Entry
Delicious refreshments
Plenty of parking

Competition to Design the Weathervane

The idea of having a small turret with a weathervane is very popular. We announced at the investor meeting that we have decided to run a competition to choose a weathervane image. Our technical drawing was just to inspire you - what image would you like for the weathervane?
